Paul Weller, Time Passes...

I saw you today, or at least I think it was It's hard to say, we've all changed so much Compelled to look, but I hid my face It's hard to trace - these feelings

Gone so soon, the time I spent with you And like an old, old tune-keeps running through my head I wanted to say, so many things But my mouth went dry - and one word and I'd cry

Slender bride, your beauty shines from you And forever more, I'll be on your side for sure A light in your life, that always burns for you As time passes...so quickly

The final stage, we've both reached some way As we board our trains to different stations And the parts we play, and the things we say, Words on the way - to discovery
