

Pedro The Lion, Never Leave A Job Half Done

Blood stains on the carpet blood stains on my hands drag her toward the kitchen hide the evidence

Oh the toil a lie can bring that quitters never know but lies can be the perfect things if they never show

The crisis that posed a question just beneath the skin the virtue in my veins replied that quitters never win she almost ruined everything