

Pennywise, Something To Change

Another boring day just fades away a cycle that's never gonna change
Another casualty of humanity awash in my own stupidity
It's like I don't want to try
There's no reason why a cyborg that's waiting around to die
Got nothing left to prove I got no excuse a wasteoid with nothing left to lose

I'm waiting for my own salvation I got to get out - there's no time to waste
Cause I need something to change
Something to break - Some way to get away
Some way to get away from you

A never-ending game - always the same - forever spent waiting for the day
I know there's gotta be some place for me where I can escape this misery
The more and more I try it just seems that I get further from what I want in life
There's nothing I can do I got no excuse a reject who hasn't got a clue

I'm waiting for my own salvation I got to get out - there's not time to waste
