

Perfect Stranger, Fire When Ready

Does it bother you to have my feet on your desk
Please take it as a sign of no respect
Your office was open, thought we'd have a little talk
Here's something you can stuff in your suggestion box

(Chorus): You're a bonehead jerk, yeah, I said it
I'd been doing all the work
You've been taking all the credit
Shooting me down, riding me steady
Come on, boss, fire when ready

I know you can't let me go without due cause
And I wouldn't wanna see you breaking any laws
I could lay down on the job when I'm not home sick
But the more I think about it, this oughta do the trick

Chorus

I could've given you notice, sent you a memo
Or written you a resignation letter
Saying I quit, I've had it, that's it
But this just feels so much better
