

Perry Como, Two Lost Souls

Two lost souls, on the highway of life,
we ain't even got a sister or brother!
But ain't it just great, ain't it just grand,
we got each other!

Two lost ships, on a stormy sea,
one with no sail, an' one with no rudder!
But ain't it just great, ain't it just grand,
we got each other!

Two lost sheep in the wilds of the hills,
far from the other Jack's an' Jill's . . .
We wondered away and went astray,
but we ain't fussin' 'cause we got us-en!

We're two lost souls, on the highway of life,
an' there is no one with whom we would ruther!
Say, ain't it just great, and ain't it just grand,
we got each other!

< instrumental break >

Mamma said no, so we eloped,
and though we ain't got a castle for which we hoped
we got a lot . . .
because we got . . . each other!
