

Pete Townshend, Everywhere I Look This Morning

Everywhere I look this morning
people singing such a wondrous sound.
Everywhere I look this morning,
love's stream flowing all around.

Must be 'cos the Master's here,
bringing love and destroying fear.
All the feelings I can't explain
come together in Baba's name.

Everywhere I look this morning
trees and flowers have a song to sing
they say it's been such a long long winter
giving way to eternal spring

Must be 'cos the Master's here,
bringing love and destroying fear.
All the feelings I can't explain
come together in Baba's name.

Everywhere I look this morning
selfishness is giving way to love.
When we look deep within our own hearts
we find the treasures we've been dreaming of.

Must be 'cos the Master's here,
bringing love and destroying fear.
All the feelings I can't explain
come together in Baba's name.

Everywhere I look this morning
people seeing that we all are one.
All confusion is but a shadow
when you turn around and see the sun.

Must be 'cos the Master's here,
bringing love and destroying fear.
All the feelings I can't explain
come together in Baba's name.

Must be 'cos the Master's here,
bringing love and destroying fear.
All the feelings I can't explain
come together in Baba's name.
