

Peter Kent, For Your Love

For your love
I would die.
For your love
that is why
in a world all without you
I would still dream about you.

For your love
heaven knows.
For your love
that it grows.
I could still your desire keep the flames burning higher inside.

In sweet surrender

your lips on mine
so magic and tender.
Lord
how I need you today.
Lord
how I want you to stay

I'd give my whole life away forever more ev'ryday.

For your love
I would die...

When you're beside me
I'm here to stay
'cause yesterday's gone
and we're not alone.
Lord
how I need you today...

For your love
I would die...
