

Phil Joel, Fallen In Love

There will never be another like this
Never before has my soul been kissed
Hear the sun sing to the stars
And the moon in all its glod
They all know
That there will never be another
Quite like this

I have fallen in love with You
As long as You give me breath
I will praise Your name
I, I have fallen in love with You
And if You keep breaking my heart
I will always be in love

There will never be another like this
Never before has my soul been kissed
In the hum of the traffic flow
In the still of the night
You whisper low and I know
There will never be another
Quite like this

We hav brought You broken bodies
Wounded, lovesick, and ashamed
We have flirted with the lions
Close enough to feel the flames
Still Your love is the aroma
That fills thisplace
The turning point
Of the Father's embrace
And love, there will never be another
Love like this

We have fallen in love with You
And as long as You give us breath
We will praise Your name
