Phil Wickham, Crumble To Pieces

You raise me beyond the skies, into a city of eternal light Looking down on the stars, I fly into heaven, caught up in your arms

I Breathe Your fragrance, taste your goodness, Crumble to pieces Into Your love In Your presence all my existence Crumbles to pieces Into Your love

I'm speechless what can I say Words become tears As You wipe them away All my kisses and crowns at your feet Fire of heaven burn love over me

It's such a beautiful story I'm face to face with the King of glory You rescued someone unworthy, I know this is love
