

Philip Lynott, Susan

Susan's flows weightless thru the atmosphere
And sunlight makes it hard to see her
Not far to go 'til she is floating out of here
And the sunlight makes her skin translucent

Every single fibre twitching
Every nerve on fire in me
All my blood in constant motion
Every step I take
I'll be rollin' like a fire engine
Strings of words but no intension
Hey will you remember me when you out lost your head

Lost the day must be the minute day
Cause you can see the lilacs blooming
People walking, talking, shopping
If they all love the same to me in gaping fasted harmony

Every single fibre twitching
Every nerve on fire in me
All my blood in constant motion
Every step I take
I'll be rollin' like a fire engine
Strings of words but no intension
Hey will you remember me when you out lost your head

Stick

Sometimes late at night, I think of you
I wonder what you think about me
Sitting way up high there on some angel fly
But it is hard to imagine you with cut out wings and a Hollywood set with clouds and things

Every single fibre twitching
Every nerve on fire in me
All my blood in constant motion
Every step I take
I'll be rollin' like a fire engine
Strings of words but no intension
Hey will you remember me when you out lost your head

Stick
