

Pilate, I Won't Blame You

Your door wide open These words you've spoken hang like rain clouds pending the storm

Cut me slowly
Like you owe me
I feel like being torn

Show me 'round the rooms in your house,
down the hallway to your doubt
and I won't blame you
I won't blame you
I won't blame you

A season's ended our bloodlines blended lives change with the melting snow

There's no easier decisions just life we've been given resigned to failing control

down the hallway to your doubt
and I won't blame you
I won't blame you
I won't blame you

Lay them at my table secrets meant for me life we know's not simple this loving not for free

down the hallway to your doubt
and I won't blame you
I won't blame you
I won't blame you...
