

Pillar, Chasing Shadows At Midnight

Next time I try
To cross your mind
Remind me to look both ways
So I don't get hit by your lies

You lacerate me with all of
These memories
And now I wear these scars out on my sleeve

These broken hearts
Are left with scars
Because of your lies
And all this time
It feels like I'm
Chasing shadows at midnight

The days fade
And stars come out at night
And when the sun goes down
I know exactly what I'll find
Some things in this life
Will never change
We both have apologies to exchange

These broken hearts
Are left with scars
Because of your lies
And all this time
It feels like I'm
Chasing shadows at midnight

How could I let myself
Fall into your lies
I only trusted you
With all of my life
Now I am stuck here
I'm trapped under ice
The only way out
Is for me not to ask why