

Pillar, Galactic Groove

Here's a little story I got to tell about my Father up in heaven who you know so well
But let me start off by settin' the record straight from the years past lettin' all those people know that used to poke fun and used to laugh
There's only one reason why we do what we do
That's to serve our God. let His love shine through We're here to be bold, do what we're told, of Him we are a mold
If it's His will keep rockin' til we're 01 years old
Not once throughout my years will I ever not be the same
I never fell into the trap of the whole east coast west coast thing
'Cause we're all under the reign of one King it's time we realize
One thing Jah people all around the world it's time we all sing
A song of unity cause that's the way it should be It's time we come together so we can let the world see
From the beaches of Cali to the wheatlands of the plains
His love is yesterday today, forever the same
Captains Log star date 2003
A Range Rover hovercraft in high pursuit of me
They're all blacked out with chrome rims and tinted windows
Sending me death threats with murderous innuendoes
Chase this space renegade with pins and mics
Burshin off stardust from galaxies and nebulae
La vida loca translates to livin' the rap life
And a wrong turn and a runaway truck can jackknife
Pay attention to the road as God watches and He files it
Or get grounded like imported coffee or bad pilots
I used to think I knew a lot so on goes the story
I couldn't see deceptions on the move to transforming
I found the world boring wasted time in my exploring Dug deeper in excavating into the glory to glory
Writing the Lordship committed to one on one
Solar powered and energetic while running off the Sun
Big God third rock He created all that Knowdaverbs and Pillar we bound to bless tracks
So step back out the way and watch the Lord move
He rules the territory as teh Galaxy Grooves
