Pink Cream 69, Shelter

You've been trying to believe in what you do Always looking for a reason to go through This incompatibility has Got you focused on another dream, and yeah

Giving meaning to the purpose just don't kick All this running round in circles makes you sick There's allot of technicalities and There's allot of things you just don't see, and yeah

Cause I want to know -Will you ever find the way'?

Follow your heart, follow your senses Walking a one way road - longing shelter It might be hard, it might be easy Walking a one way road - longing shelter from the storm

Times are changing but song remains the same Kind of dated, kind of retro, kind of lame Do you really even understand why Nothing's going quite the way you planned, and yeah

Are you ready to indulge into the truth -Of the consequences captured by your youth? Take a good look at the way you're going Are you moving without even knowing? Yeah!

Cause I want to know -Will you ever find the way'?

Follow your heart, follow your senses Walking a one way road - longing shelter It might be hard, it might be easy Walking a one way road - longing shelter from the storm A one way road - longing shelter from the storm A one way road - longing shelter from the storm

From the storm'.

Cause I want to know -Will you ever find the way'?

Follow your heart, follow your senses Walking a one way road ' longing shelter It might be hard, it might be easy Walking a one way road - longing shelter from the storm A one way road - longing shelter from the storm A one way road - longing shelter from the storm

Give me shelter!
