

Pink Cream 69, Stranger In Time

Look around alone in the cold, so mystify
Did you know the stories they told would pass you by?
There's a new constitution and it's telling you to change your style would you like a revolution? Everybody's got to walk the mile

You'll be dying

When you're out on the limb
And don't know where to begin
Feel like you're living in sin
Cause you're a stranger
You abide by the rules
The ones they taught you at school
They make you feel like a fool
Cause you're a stranger in time

There's a twist to the story, now we reached the point of no return
One of power, one of glory, are you gonna let your bridges burn

I'll be dying

When you're out on the limb
And don't know where to begin
Feel like you're living in sin
Cause you're a stranger
You abide by the rules
The ones they taught you at school
They make you feel like a fool
Cause you're a stranger in time

Are you dying?
Gonna let your bridges burn?
You'll be crying

When you're out on the limb
And don't know where to begin
Feel like you're living in sin
Cause you're a stranger
You abide by the rules
The ones they taught you at school
They make you feel like a fool
Cause you're a stranger in time