lovers never
have time enough
they want to meet
but keep passing each other in the street and if they finally manage to meet
they don't manage
to tell each other
what is most important

when they talk
on the phone there's those disturbing silences
and sudden interruptions i try to listen carefully to what you say (it's so distant) and feel happy with the insignificant things you say
that's a symphony
for lovers

time goes faster
than all those people running
i hear a song
from somewhere
a song i had long forgotten the two lovers try to listen to it carefully

the words lovers
whisper to each other
and the song
someone is humming
as he walks in the streets all this gets mingled and becomes a symphony

the sound of the subway and a song

i had long forgotten
the two lovers
are listening carefully

today
another couple will be formed
another couple will break up
if i ever see you again i'll tell you
everything

can you hear?
this symphony
for lovers
