

Plans For Revenge, Lost in Our Own Words

we are lost in our own words can we try to take it back... can we keep the distance all our views had gone away... our views have gone unlisted following the same procedures we always do and compromising the better way to a better day

I never wanted to utter any dishonest words and all our apologies go unheard just like the rest of the screams