

Poe, 5&1/2 Minute Hallway

I live at the end of a 5&1/2 minute hallway
But as far as I can see you are still miles from me
In your doorway
And oh, by the way, when the landlord came today
He measured everything
I knew he'd get it wrong, but I just played along
'Cause I was hoping that would fix it all
(oh oh oh oh oh)

But there's only so far I can go
When you're living in a hallway that keeps growing
I think to myself, "five more minutes and I'll be there
Inside your door";

But there's more to this story than I've been letting on
There are words meaning little unwritten in this
I forgive you for leading me on
You can think of it like this, when you can't resist,
I'm in your hallway standing on a cliff
And just when I think I find the trick
I'm tumbling like an echo
(oh oh oh oh oh)

'Cause there's only so far I can go
(you've gotta believe me baby)
When you're living in a hallway that keeps growing
(gotta believe me baby)
I think to myself, "thirty seconds and I'll be there";

I'll be there

You never listen to me!
We cannot really experiment with love as freely as we think.
It is really much more complicated.