

Pohgoh, Friend X

You can say what you want to say.

People will talk anyway.

I will give you a head start.

Let you take the easy part.

Making others laugh at my expense.

I'm sure you've had experience.

Still i have to say that was so mean.

And why you have to be so mean. so mean.

You can't break what's left of my confidence.

It's already shattered.

While what's left of my pride.

Is already scattered.

You won't find me fishing for compliments.

But now i'm scared what to expect.

Now i know what you are, empty and shallow, ugly inside. Clear it up now there's nothing to hide from

For no reason at all. you turned your back. walked away. Disclaimed me.

Guess you'll go on being yourself, nothing that time or aging will help.

I just want you to know that you really hurt me

Never knew you'd be so quick to desert me