

Primal Scream, Tomorrow Ends Today

I have watched the world go past
But forever never lasts
So I must change, so I must change
I could sit all day and dream
But I know that it would mean
So much to miss, so much to miss

La la la la la la la

I look at you and then I understand
The way the world is
Or should I say
The way it should be

As tomorrow ends today
In a funny kind of way
My head is spinning with you

As I look into your eyes
Theres so much that they imply
Theres so much more, theres so much more
Ive a thousand things to do
Every one of them to you
I surely will, I surely will

I look at you and then I understand
The way the world is
Or should I say
The way it should be

As tomorrow ends today
In a funny kind of way
My head is spinning with you