

Primer 55, Hesitation

Feeling like I'll never understand this all the things I hate about myself the mistakes I made, I never planned this every time I'm good, there's something else realize I'm always over thinking never learned just how to let things be search inside myself to find the answers I am not the man I want to be.

(Chorus)

look inside of me, tell me what you see pick it apart tell me what you see just don't you give up on me and I don't feel the same in my own skin and I'm fed up with battles I can't win.

Constantly in fear of isolation is someone after me? I just can't tell never felt like leaving myself open living life, depending on myself.

(Repeat chorus)
