</lyrics>

You're definitely someone who can be at ease
With the same thing every day,
But you don't realise the fun
In wanting and fighting for something.

While watching the setting evening sun,
You said, "Things that sink are beautiful, too."
If you're at peace with that,
Well, that's fine, but

I'm always aiming higher
In order to see things that can only be seen from there
And I'm prepared to give up things I hold dear
In order to overcome things that must be overcome.

In always taking the same road,
you miss the alleys you don't know of.
But sometimes, when you get lost,
You can find a fun encounter.

The path a lonely king walks down alone
Is always endless, but If your heart is crushed by that,
Well, that's all there is.

I'm always aiming higher
In order to see things that can only be seen from there
And I'm prepared to be hurt, too
In order to reach a place that's higher than anyone else.

I'm always aiming higher
In order to see things that can only be seen from there
I'm prepared to give up things I hold dear
In order to overcome things that must be overcome.

I'm always aiming higher
In order to see things that can only be seen from there
And I'm prepared to be hurt, too
In order to reach a place that's higher than anyone else.
