

Pro-Pain, Murder 101

to keep the fire burnin' you must feed the flame and this flame is burnin' fast the drug lords are yearnin' for you give them your name first, middle initial, last
"my job sucks" you say it's like doin' time "i feel like such a jerk" but 500 bucks a day are better than nine dollars for two hours work so get out your pen and paper, better start taking notes get a lecture from the devil, he's about to take your coat and when the class is over, if you pass you get your gun nothing's ever sacred here in murder 101 a cold blooded kill is my final exam if he's dead i pass my bones start to chill and my nerves start to jam i pump three more slugs in his chest wake me up tomorrow and i'll show you no remorse to prove that i'm a man the absentee was sorrow who is sure to flunk the course who witnessed the violence and ran