

Projekt Orange, Just Before

I believe this time will never die
I stole you again and now
The flames are a hard way down

I will write a song the day you die
Just so that you wonder if it's dry
Well now it's dry & now it's me,
You & I could lay here

Just before you're out there in the sky
I believe this time will never die
And you again
And now tonight
There's only one way down

It's time for love, daddy said

Terrible honest
Out of the sky
And use it every night
But it's terrible a lie

Just before you're out there in my life
You belong you want the night to stay
And you know your mind would never kill itself
But you're one-way down

You will love the song the baby cries
I could be the puppet of your fires
I stole you again
The lies in your car
You'll be running now

It's time for love, daddy said

I could live a sudden rush
A long way out we're there
And leave you going for Uncomfortable
Undoable
A sensual love

You could never tell
You could never tell...
