Psychotic Waltz, Dancing in the Ashes

i see it coming back around i see it coming all down i see the future is red i see the innocent are laying dead they cover the dead where they're laying until the battle is won the war has just begun burning like a hell, goddamn it's just a different time and another kind of vietnam burning fire, we are going to burn in the fire we're gonna burn it high can you hear all the lies that try to cover their cries the hell is more real than the television can make it feel keep the war machine fed try cover your head just think of god as a gun this is the freedom that you've won the skyline is glowing and the fire is growing this is the world that we live in the only gift is that we're giving in blind by the flashes now we're dancing in the ashes singing god is a gun this is the freedom that you've won