They don't think about anything; they don't worry about anything
Even if it's the case that that kind of personality is good
I'm always thinking and always worrying
I intend to be ready but my feelings are shaking
I have to look for the things I like
Because no one teaches me
When I want to laugh I laugh; when I want to cry I cry
There aren't any dreams, but that alone is my wish
The experience of talking on the television; the experience of the same with someone
It looks like somewhere I was listening to the speech
If I pay for everything and I live, as it is,
I don't understand whether or not I was born for my purpose
I have to recognize the things that are beautiful
Like a sky of blue that I alone lift my eyes to see
When I want to laugh I laugh; when I want to cry I cry
Besides, there isn't a dream, but that alone is my wish
A big, big wish
