Moles work busily, never resting, moving through the world
Digging their way through earnestly, crossing seas
And then suddenly they take a break and look up at the stars
We, too, are working busily
Moving through the world, never giving in Moving our hands like the moles digging
I want to dream of a place that I've never seen before
I want to see the stars, wind a spring
Wind it round and round and move up a little
We can't see yet, we can't see anywhere
We end up thinking like that
So let's keep moving our hands, let's look
Nobody's watching, nobody's listening
We make mistakes, so let's keep moving our hands
We can't see yet, we can't see anywhere
We end up thinking like that
So let's keep moving our hands, let's look
Dig and dig and dig some more
And when you look back you'll see you've made a road
