

Pungent Stench, Why Can The Bodies Fly

why can the bodies fly (mike vanguard and ed yonder, lyrics by i. gaim) copyright control 1982 photo atomism is a way / in the crowded world today / little dancing tender child / why have all your dreams i took them in a tower / where all the big black flowers / died in a dreadful horror / when they heard why can the bodies fly / without a laugh (we killed it) / i am lost in darkest woods / without a moon (o starless night, deathful night / ghosts are walking in the tropics / like the shadows making terror / on i pushed them in a tomb / where all the godly mob / dried of insolently gush / cause everybody was
black flowers / thrown in my way of power / crushing the diverted crowd insight look in an ol' fairy book / teach you more of devil's brain / catalistic thoughts in a poet's mind i took them in a tower / where all the big black flowers / died in a dreadful horror / when they heard
(we killed it / they killed it)
