

Puressence, She's Gotten Over You

Take, what you want, 'cos this ship's going down

Fate, let it run, even though she's not around

You can feel the warmth coming from her face
For someone else trying to take your place
And you know she's almost gotten over you
There's a secret world where you try and hide
You wanna live but your dead inside
'cos you know she's almost gotten over you

Your remembering that smile the last look in her eyes
Your heart beats like a hummingbird's

You created, she destroyed
The thing that you enjoyed
You don't believe another world

You can feel the warmth coming from her face
For someone else trying to take your place
And you know she's almost gotten over you
There's a secret world where you try and hide
You wanna live but your dead inside
Now your trying to make your paracosm's true