Puressence, You Move Me

Well I know there is something about you girl

Though they say that nobody can change the world In your eyes there's a smile There's a soothing camomile Makes it feel worth my while, waiting for you girl

You move me You move me You move...

I must say I was smitten so long ago I got caught pulled right down by your undertow Just like the stars always shine Just like them you can't be mine Sing a sad Valentine all about you girl

You move me You move me You move...

I know it's time to stop believing every part of me is wrong I know it's time to start believing 'cos I need to carry on Without you girl

You move me You move me You move me
