Quasi, Two By Two

You've left at last, I knew you could, Leaving nothing to remember you by Except how to be happy & amp; how not to care anymore. Two by two - these things weren't meant for you. Your call never came, I wish that it would, So I could have something to remember you by Besides the way we fell to pieces & amp; how not to feel anything. Two by two - these things weren't meant for you. It rains today, or are those tears? Falling from the moon above That bell in my head It'll ring till I'm dead.