Ra, Don't Turn Away

Don't Turn Away Under the sun I stand Over the wings of fallen angels. I can't believe the things you show me. In my dreams I have you next to me.

Forever gone is love. Out of control, I fall in trenches. And if you leave me empty, How will I design the world I need?

In your eyes you see it done: Colors drain away like water. Distance all but disappeared, And nothing can be done.

Don't; don't turn away. Don't let it take you over. You cannot give in. Don't let it take you over now.

And in your eyes I catch A tiny glimpse of heaven calling. You try to stay in touch, but can you End what has no real beginning.

In your eyes you see it done: Colors drained away like water. Distance all but disappeared, And nothing can be done.

Don't; don't turn away. Don't let it take you over. You cannot give in. Don't let it take you over now.

And I walk away And leave you right where you stand I'll never regret all that I said to you.But you never turned away

You never turned away. You never turned away. You never turned away. You never turned away.

Don't; don't turn away. Don't let it take you over. You cannot give in. Don't let it take you over.

Don't; don't turn away. Don't let it take you over. You cannot give in. Don't let it take you over now.

And I walk away And leave you right where you stand I'll never regret all that I said to you.But you never turned away

You never turned away. You never turned away. You never turned away. You never turned away. Don't; don't turn away. Don't let it take you over. You cannot give in. Don't let it take you over.

Don't; don't turn away. Don't let it take you over. You cannot give in. Don't let it take you over now.