

Rachael Cantu, This Breath Won't Hold

this breath won't hold 'til morning there's a pain that's come undone and the lights are going out in the city you say you'd stay with me to watch me wake at the sun and you said that you love me and you said that you need me

now I'm walking the line just like me granny did and I'm holding my breath the way my mother did until you say that you love me until you say that you need me

and I'm glad you're here here with me my dear yeah, yeah I'm so glad your're here

now I've made it 'til morning and I'll say that I'm alright you wouldn't believe it I've made it through the night cause you said that you love me

yeah you said that you love me
