

Rachael Yamagata, Until I Heard

all my life nothing seems to last just some names i'll soon forget and in the past i never take the chance to lead with my heart and not my head

all my life i heard them but to hear those words from you just knocks me down
and im spinning
since i heard those words from you until this time i never seemed to mind not having heartache to regret but now i found all my clouds are silver lined its all part of the world you set

all my life i heard them
but to hear those words form you
just knocks me down
and im spinning
since i heard the words form you and i feel the way do since i heard the words from you