

Rachel Stevens, Never Go Back

There's something on my mind
I want a little deja vu
A stirring deep inside, I won't refuse
I can't explain the mood that's driving me
To the door that leads to hell and heaven

Girl, you've gone and done it
You're playing every love scene
You should've seen it coming
You know it won't be like it used to be
So never go back

Never, never, never, never, never go back

So here I go again
Into a land of broken dreams
Hopelessly giving in, I'm free falling
Now what I'm in your arms, I'm weakening
It's too late now, I've succumbed to temptation

Girl, you've gone and done it
You're playing every love scene
You should've seen it coming
You know it won't be like it used to be
So never go back

Never, never, never, never, never go back

I was always one to stay away (stay away)
It can only end in my tears

Girl, you've gone and done it
You're playing every love scene
You should've seen it coming
You know it won't be like it used to be
So never go back

Girl, you've gone and done it
Girl, you've gone and done it
