

Radical Noise, Color Of Hate

Once they've fought against it, now they serve it hot for you

The game; divide and conquer, that's the fuckin' rule and the order of the landlords is proudly approved

Today the age of civilisation; "keep the stranger out", this is a bio-ethnic opposition based

I see it everyday "the ethics of dismay". It's the mutual existence of hatred breeds our world

We're socially adored, can't you see, we're grouped

Define the level of your culture then you'll be honoured

Is it the stranger inside you hates everyone

Who are you to tell me where to belong?

Never surrender to the COLOR OF HATE