Rage, Wake The Nightmares

[Music & amp; amp; Lyrics: Peavy Wagner]

The dust that settled in the eyes Has covered a thousand lies Like maggots ate the brain And time is moving rapidly For those who are to see A paradigma changed

And the rain's falling like tears you've shed (keep on falling)
While the spiders crawl out of your bed (I see them crawling)
And the raven sings songs for the dead (sing your songs for the dead)
Wake the nightmares in my head

Like me there were more that have tried To set a few things right To take the dreamers hand Their world is falling from the stars They start a thousand wars It's coming to an end

And the rain's falling like tears you've shed (keep on falling)
While the spiders crawl out of your bed (I see them crawling)
And the raven sings songs for the dead (sing your songs for the dead)
Wake the nightmares in my head

Never swallow what you've heared before Don't believe in what you see It won't stay like it appears no more If you don't awake in time You never will again

And the rain's falling like tears you've shed (keep on falling)
While the spiders crawl out of your bed (I see them crawling)
And the raven sings songs for the dead (sing your songs for the dead)
Wake the nightmares in my head
