

Raleytar, An Ode To A Dying Rose

Please kiss me before you tell me goodbye
I know that I'll love you to the end of time
Illusions never changed into something real
But you brought sun into my lake of tears
Everytime in my life when the rain falls down
I see myself lying on the ground
I could have seen but I was so blind
And after your leaving the roses died
When the rain of the frozen dreams falls on pain
In a pale moon's shadow grey everthing's fading away
That's an ode to a dying rose that is unheard sung
'Cause there so many things which should be undone
So please kiss me before you tell me goodbye
I know that I'll love you to the end of time
Illusions never changed into something real
But you brought sun into my lake of tears...
My Lake Of Tears...my lake of tears...