

Ray LaMontagne, Let It Be Me

there comes a time
a time in everyone's life where loving seems to go away where nothing seems to turn out right there, there come a time you just can't seem to find your place for every door you open seems like you get two slammed in your face that's when you need someone someone that you
you can hold
when all your faith is gone it feels like you can't go on

let it be me
let it be me
if it's a friend you need
let it be me
let it be me

feels like you're always coming up last pockets full of nothing ain't got no cash no matter where you turn you ain't got no place to stand you reach out for something and they slap your hand i remember, oh too well just how it feels to be all alone feel like you'd give anything for just a little place you can call your own
that's when you need someone

let it be me
let it be me
let it be me
