

Ray Price, Another Bridge To Burn

I've had to burn most every bridge I've crossed

It seems like everytime I've loved I'd lost

When I met you I thought the time would turn now you're just another bridge to burn

I'll soon light the match and move on I've already waited much too long

Now I'm so hurt and you're so unconcerned and our love's just another bridge to burn

[steel - fiddle]

Sometimes one must love enough for two and that's how it's been with me and you

Now I'm so hurt and you're so unconcerned and our love's just another bridge to burn

I'll soon light the match...