

Razorlight, Yes You Should Know

You think I'm happy, I know I'm not
You say "just think about all the things that you've got"
You're right from your side, and I'm right from mine
But you know I'll get you next time
All that I know here
Is you should be going
Your hair is too long, girl
Your clothes are all wrong
Maybe you should know
Maybe you should know
Maybe you should know, no no no no
Yes, you should know

And you sit back, you pull the shade
You say "ah, we've really got it made"
But I look out the window straight past you
You would understand, but you just don't have a clue

Your heels are too high, girl
Let's say goodbye, girl
Your hair is too long, girl
Your looks are all wrong, girl

Your playing for time, girl
Your wasting all mine, girl
And now that you're leaving
I really think that
Baby, you should know
Baby, you should know, yes
Yes, you should know, no no no no
Yes, you should know

I think I'm right
I know you're wrong
I could have just strung you along
I've got a feeling that it's going to rain
I look out my old door and I let you in again

And now that you know
I'm getting up to go
If I could show you
Oh yes I would

Your hair is too long, girl
Your clothes are all wrong, girl
You're playing for time, girl
You're wasting all mine

And maybe you should know...
Yes, you should know
Yes, you should know
Yes, you should know
Know, know, know, know

Yes, you should know
Yes, you should know
I wish you would know
Yes, you should know
Yes, you should know
Yes, you should know
