

Rebellion, Claws Of Madness

(1)

Drifting in sleepless nightmares
Haunted by poisoned dreams
Washing your hands in the water
But the hands will never be clean

(2)

Now you pay the price
Your dreams drenched in blood
Now you realize
You have gone too far

(Ref.:)

Claws of madness
Holding your brain as they take you away to the other
Side of sorrow
Where you pay what you owe

Claws of madness
Never ending pain drives you insane you want to Leave this world now
Death is kind you will find

(3)

Smile in the face of evil
Watching your life go by
Washing your hands in the water
God knows how you try

(4)

Whispers in your mind
Voices from far away
Can you hear them calling
Names from far away

(Narrator:)

After the suicide of his wife and companion in treason Macbeth must understand that Macduff has

(Macbeth:)

Tomorrow, and tomorrow, and tomorrow creeps in this petty pace from day to day to the last syllab