

Refused, Sunflower Princess

the weight of my words is not enough to make up for the words I didn't say i'm sorry - didn't want to close the door just afraid to suffocate inside these arms where i'll find comfort I will try not to break another mirror because that would be that I only break myself my eyes have never felt so soar - if I had only known more self centered - myself to blame - death is fucking you insane a selfish boy with fear and doubt afraid to let it inside I promised myself that I wouldn't break it another time no questions asked through all the time - just answers taken my guilt - my thoughts - my mind where - who's to judge?
I think I need to breath - let the door be open the only one who is choking me is myself why can't I see that you are the sun - the rain - the fuel I need inside why can't I see?
I will try - I won't listen - I will cry sunflower princess