

Reign Of Kindo, One Man Parade

Leaving this town like a one man parade

Headed straight for the Pacific blue

It seems all that I love has been left far behind

All the hundreds of days without you

But it won't be long before

You grow lonely, lonely

Long before you grow lonely again

I'll be singin' this song

To remind me about you

Singin' this song so I never forget

Page after page I keep writing these words

Tryin' to sum up my life to a tune

There's no rhyme for my reason and no such demand

For my mind was made up rather soon

But it won't be long before

I grow lonely, lonely

Long before I grow lonely again

I'll be singin' this song

To remind me about you

Singin' this song so I never forget
