

Rez Band, In Your Arms

(I remember a real young Timothy sitting on a hill. We weren't married yet; we were getting married)

Missed the alarm, got up late; some days start out second-rate,
Locked my keys in the car, tripped my way down the stairs,
If I had it together, I'd be almost scared,
It's just the real world, everything don't always go right,
But all I know is: I'll be in your arms tonight, oh.

I'll be in your arms,
I'll be in your arms tonight,
I'll be in your arms,
I'll be in your arms tonight.

Man, I was lonely, I felt so unsure,
Used to think there wasn't any cure for the everyday problems in the everyday world,
But every day ends in your arms, my, my,
What a gift he gave to me, what an angel of love,
Oh, in the crazy mistakes I always seem to make, you take me so high above, oh.

I'll be in your arms,
I'll be in your arms tonight,
Safe within your arms tonight, tonight, yeah.

I'll be in your arms,
I'll be in your arms,
Ooh, I'll be in your arms,
I'll be in your arms.

The grace to face our failure, the strength to carry on,
The love you gave us through you, the heart to sing our song, yeah, yeah.

I'll be in your arms, (I'll be in your arms)
Safe within your arms, (safe within your arms)
I'll be in your arms, (I'll be in your arms)
Safe within your arms, (safe within your arms)
I'll be in your arms, (I'll be in your arms)
Safe within your arms, (safe within your arms)
I'll be in your arms, (I'll be in your arms)
Safe within your arms. (safe within your arms)
