Richard Marx, Back To Me

Oh this must mean something
For us to endure all the hurt
And I've tried to analyze through
If maybe it's more than it's worth

I've already found a mountain to move
Should that be all that it takes?
And it isn't like there's nothing to lose
Only me, only you

I don't notice if it's night or day
I stand around in the pouring rain
I don't answer when they call my name
I will come to if only you come back to me

Like the shadow that follows
I wander around in a trance
You could wake me from this big sleep
All that we take is a chance

We could run away somewhere alone
Make up a little lost time
'Cause there's nothing worse than nowhere to go
All alone, no one home

I don't notice if it's night or day
I stand around in the pouring rain
I don't answer when they call my name
I'll be rescued if only you come back to me

More than long enough
We've been holding all the way
If you wait too long
The colors start to fade

'Cause it isn't like there's nothing to lose
Only me, only you

I don't notice if it's night or day
I stand around in the pouring rain
I don't answer when they call my name
I will come to if only you come back to me

I don't notice if it's night or day
I stand around in the pouring rain
I don't answer when they call my name
I will come to if only you come back...
I'll be rescued if only you come back...
I'll get through if only you come back...to me

Back to me, baby...

Come back to me...

Come back to me...
