

Richard Marx, Chaque jour de ta vie

You never really thought you'd live to see the day When the walls around your heart were blown aw