

Richie Kotzen, I Would

I feel like a prisoner in my own life and I'm too tired to break away This place is darker than it used to be and it's harder everyday
If I could turn it all around I would and get my feet back on the ground I would

I would find out what it means to be satisfied I would
I would search my soul in need to find peace of mind
I would
I would try hard to believe in a higher power
But it's easier to let it be

The days seem longer time still rushes by and I'm not where I wanna be I'm almost standing but not enough to see maybe lost is all I am
If I could turn it all around I would and
get my feet back on the ground I would

I would find out what it means to be satisfied I would
I would search my soul in need to find peace of mind
I would
I would try hard to believe in a higher power
But it's easier to let it be
