Ricky Nelson, Everytime I See You Smiling

Everytime I see you smiling I see a love so real And everytime I see you smiling Words can't explain the way I feel

If they made me king with a fortune And told me that I could rule the world It would take one thing more to make me happy That would be your love little girl

Everytime I see you smiling I see a love so real And everytime I see you smiling Words can't explain the way I feel

If they made me king with a fortune
And told me that I could rule the world
It would take one thing more to make me happy
That would be your love little girl
That would be your love little girl
That would be your love little girl