

Riddlin' Kids, Faithful

There I go again throwing caution to the wind.
Cause, I can't pretend it's not true and we are only friends.
And it only complicates things, how I feel.
I guess it just depends.
Wish I could talk to you now.
When will I see you again.

I sit at home and think about you all night long.
You've been gone for much too long.
I want to be with you.
I don't want anybody else.
So if you want me too then you can have me for yourself.

And I would walk a million miles just to see you smile.
I'd tempt the hand of fate for a chance to look into your eyes.
I have all but lost my faith that true love could be.
When I hold your hand you make me believe.

I sit at home and think about you all night long.
You've been gone for much too long.
I want to be with you.
I don't want anybody else.
So if you want me too then you can have me for yourself.

I want to be with you.
I don't want anybody else.
So if you want me too then you can have me for yourself.
